KILLED BY LIGHTNING.

MAN, WIFE AND THREE CHILDREN.

An Awful Calamity Near the Limits of the City-All of the Bodies Rescued by the Efforts of the Firemen.

While lightning flashed and while the nir last evening was filled with the detonations of heaven. Dale Emmett, his wife and their three young children met a horrible fate. They were struck by lightning at their home at the extreme end of Nicholson street, and when willing hands attempted to aid them the flesh pealed from their bodies and their faces bore the unmistakable

A tree fanned the breezes of number just left of the house, and the faint light of a lamp told late pedestrians that there were occupants. The rain fell in torrents, and suddenly there was a great gleam of lightning, a tremendous crash of thunder and all was still. Andrew L. Schools and family reside just

Mr. Shoals said: "There was an awful clap of thunder, which had been preceded by a vivid flash of lightning. The rain was falling in torrents and the outlook was anything but peaceful. We wife was radius because the baby kent. My wife was restless because the baby kent crying, and five minutes after the flash I went to the door and looked out. The baby was giving us a great deal of trouble and I only glanced out, as my wife said that she feered that one of the trees about the place had been struck.

THE PIRE.

I could see nothing except a fog, but a moment later fire broke out from the top of the house. I immediately rushed out and ripped the front door open with the aid of a colored man who came up about the same time. We could not get up stairs and we tore down the lath fence that was surrounding the property so as to gain an entrance in the second story. Just as we raised the fence to the second story the hose carriage of the Denny-street enginelose carriage of the Denny-street engineparty volunteered to go up the improvised A VOLUNTEER.

William J. Dwyer was the one who volunteered, and in conversation with him last evening he said to me: "I was the first man to enter the burning house, and on the ladder of laths I managed to reach a window in the second story. I found Mr. Emmett in hed by himself. His wife lay in another bed with a baby, one of the children was lying on the floor, presumably on a pallet, I brought Mr. Emmett down the ladder and then went back for his wife. She proved to be a heavy burden and I had to call as-sistance. It was a ghastly sight and one sistance. It was a ghastly sight and one that would make any one's blood run cold. T. H. Davis, of the Denny-street Engine Company, also did splendid service in re-moving the bodies of the children, and his hands were most painfully burned. While the work of removing the bodies was going on the house was in flames, and the hose company were throwing a full head of water on the burning structure, while two or three hundred people stood by to render any assistance.

The bodies were taken from the house under great difficulties and laid on the wet earth to the left of the house. Only remnants of their night clothes remained and their features were horribly blackened by smoke and fire. Uncanny and awful was the sight, as the five bodies lay upon the grass, with the flickering flames of the burning building throwing a light upon the

One of the justices of the peace of Hen-One of the justices of the peace of Hen-rice county, Mr. Barney Frischkorn, was notified of the deplorable occurrence, and he gave permission that the bodies be re-moved to some safe place. Mr. Emmett was a member of Patrick Henry Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., and of Manteo Tribe of Red Men, and officials from the two organizations took charge of the remains. They were carried to Billun's undertaking establishment on Main, near Fifteenth street, and there at 9 o'clock this morning, 'Squire Frischkoru will hold an inquest.

The 'Squire was kind and considerate and rendered all the aid possible, and decided that to hold an inquest would best satisfy all concerned.

Captain Rogers, of the Denny-street Fire Company, did most valuable work in the handling of the remains, and helped to convey from the burning building the chil-

FIRE COMMISSIONEES.

Assistant Chief-Irregularities to Be In vestigated.

The Board of Fire Commissioners met last evening in their room in Marshall Hall, Mr. J. H. Frischkorn presided, and there were present Messrs. F. P. Burke, Joseph L. Levy, C. F. Taylor, James R. Sheppard and G. Watt Taylor. As soon as the meeting had been called to order Mr. Frischkorn said that he deemed it proper for the board to set themselves right in regard to the water supply at the elevator fire. He directed the clerk to read a letter which was written to the Chesapeake and Ohio management about a year ago. The letter is as follows: I am directed by the Board of Fire Commissioners to call your attention to the insufficient water supply in the vicinty of your shops at the extreme end of Seventeenth street.

The city main there will supply but one of our steam fire engines, and one engine is not sufficient in case of fire at your ex-tensive works. We take the liberty of calling your attention to this matter, believing you are not posted as to the true situation of the case, and that you will not misunder-stand the motive in so doing. We would stand the motive in so doing. We would like to confer with your engineer or such officer as you may designate, and make a suggestion to him which we believe will give the desired water supply at small cost. The clerk, Mr. George Paynter, was directed to call the attention of the Chesapeake and Ohio authorities to the letter, and see if something could not be done to provide water for the shops in the event of a fire.

President Frischkorn announced his committees for the year, as follows:

mittees for the year, as follows: Alarm-Messrs. Sheppard, C. F. Taylor. Burke.

Apporatus-Messrs. G. Watt Taylor, Sheppard, Levy.

Sheppard, Levy.

Business and Furniture-Messrs. Burke. Buildings and Furniture—Messrs. Burke. G. Watt Taylor, Levy. Horses and Harness—Messrs. C. F. Taylor, G. Watt Taylor, Frischkorn.

Feed and Provender-Messrs, Levy, C. F. Taylor, Frischkorn. Accounts-Messrs. Frischkorn, Burke, Sheppard.

Mr. C. F. Taylor called the board's attention to the lack of light on Tredegar street.
Mr. G. Watt Taylor was directed to confer with the Council Light Committee and reuest them to put two or three lights on the street.

The Committee on Fire-Alarm was directed to investigate fully the reasons why the alarms came in so differently and caused so much trouble the night of the elevator fire. It will be remembered that three alarms came in in rapid succession the night of the fire and the apparatus was directed wrongly. and it was with difficulty that Chief Puller found out where the fire was. The committee intends to make a thorough examination of the matter.

The Committee on Fire-Alarm was directed to confer with the Richmond Railway and Electric Company as regards their action during the elevator fire. The 10-10 alarm was sent in meaning to turn off the electric circuit, but the tro ley-wire remained "live" throughout the night. Mr. Paynter went to the power-house during the fire and found there that by negligence the gong had not been wound up as it should have been, and the two tens was never struck on the gong. some employe of the electric company.

President Frischkorn next stated that the board would go into the election of a first assistant permanent engineer and Mr. Burke presented the following:

Whereas at a meeting of the Board of Fire Commissioners held January 29th, 1892, the following resolution, offered by Mr. Burke, was unanimously adopted, viz.

The office of the present assistant engineers will be abolished July 1, 1892, and the b ard will then proceed to elect a permanent assistant Chief from that date. the duties and salary then to be prescribthe duties and sainty then to be prescrib-ed; and whereas, after the adoption of the foregoing resolution, the attorney of the city of Richmond upon being asked for his opinion decided that the positions of the aforesaid engineers could not be abolished until the expiration of the terms of office of the incumbents or their removal for cause—as prescribed by law— and whereas, the first assi tant engineer. Captain James R. Sheppard, having tendered his resignation to the board and thereby creating a vacancy in the position of first assistant engineer; therefore be it

Resolved, That this board do now proceed to elect a First Assistant Engineer whose place and office shall be designated as First Assistant Permanent Engineer of the Fire Department of the city of Richmond, Va., whose duties shall be prescribed by this board, and whose salary shall be $1,000 per annum, payable monthly; and be it further Resolved, That the rules governing this department be so smended as to prescribe the duties of the officer aforesaid. Resolved. That this resolution shall be in force upon the election and qualification of said First Assistant Permanent Engineer.

The first assistant remanent Engineer.

The first assistant engineer is to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Mr. James R. Sheppard, who was elected Monday night a member of the board. President Frischkorn made a splendid speech in advocating the resolution and demonstrated to those present that the services of a per-manent assistant chief is needed; that one ermanent chief is not enough to attend to the many calls made upon him by the partment and that conflagrations would be better managed if there were two chiefs paid for their whole time by the city.
Mr. Burke nominated Otto Wise, of steamer No. 4. Mr. Sheppard nominated Mr. L. W. Doret, of No. 1 truck. Mr. G. M. Taylor nominated Captain E.

T. Snead, third assistant chief. Mr. Frischkorn handed in the application of Isidore M. Hirshberg. He also placed in nomination George Shaw, of truck No. 2. Five ballots were taken with no result, and Mr. Burke next placed in nomination Mr. Trower.

Mr. Shaw was finally declared elected.

It measured six feet from tip to tip, and the bill is eight inches long. The body is white, but about half of the wing is black. While the legs are very long, the neck is comparatively

Dr. Taylor thinks it is what is known as the wood this, a bird of Louisiana, and is a species of the crane or stork family. Others who have seen the bill and wing, which is now on exhibition at this office, pronounce them that of an English heron, but can't account for its being in this

Mr. Taylor, who was fortunate enough to capture the ornithological phenomenon, says there were four in the flock, and the others have been since seen in the neighbor-hood, but it is very hard to approach in gunshot distance, as they are remarkably alert. Messrs. Miller. Stokes and some of our other noted ornithologists would do well to examine the exhibit.
